

Silicon Valley Chemist

Santa Clara Valley Section

American Chemical Society

Volume 22 No. 8

2000 Shirley B. Radding Award

Mr. Halley A. Merrell is the 2000 Shirley B. Radding Award winner. He is recognized for his dedicated, unselfish leadership and service to the American Chemical Society at the local, regional and national levels.

Halley Merrell is Secretary and Assistant Director of the American Chemical Society.

Mr. Merrell received his B.S. degree in chemistry in 1957 from Virginia Polytechnic State University and did graduate work at the University of Delaware. He was an engineer with NVF Company, a research chemist with Virginia Chemicals, Inc. and taught chemistry at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, VA.

He joined the ACS staff in 1963 as a staff writer. From 1967 to 1971 he was assistant to the director of the Office of Chemistry and Public Affairs and Manager of ACS Member Services in 1972. He was Manager of the ACS Office of Local Section Activities from 1973 to 1979.

He was named Assistant Secretary of the Society in 1979 and Assistant to the President in 1987. He served as Director of Membership Division from 1993 to 1998 when he was named Secretary of the Society. Concurrent with these latter posts he was Assistant to the Executive Director from 1992 through 1999.

A resident of Arlington, VA, Mr. Merrell is active in a variety of civic organizations in northern Virginia.

September Local Section Meeting

Chemistry – both ancient and modern – emerges as a critical tool in determining the sound quality of wooden, musical instruments. Historical evidence suggests that Stradivari and his colleagues were beneficiaries of fortuitous coincidences with regard to wood procurement and finishing technologies.

In September Dr. Joseph Nagyvary of Texas A&M University will decode the Stradivarius: its materials, sounds and mystique at our local Santa Clara Valley Chemical Society meeting. Saturday afternoon, September 23rd, join your local section colleagues and those from the California section (San Francisco and Berkeley areas) at Cal State Hayward to hear Dr. Nagyvary present his theories on the influence various chemicals used in the 17th century had on the tone qualities of the violin.

We will also have the opportunity to listen to Zina Schiff, a concert violinist, play her personal Stradivarius and compare its tone to a new violin.

This meeting will be interesting and different for several reasons:

- The topic is very different – for Silicon Valley.
- It is the first time in recent memory that the two local ACS sections have joined together for a meeting.
- It will be presented at a new venue, day and time.

So mark your calendars now for September 23rd, watch the web site, www.scvacs.org, and next month's newsletter for the final announcements.

Chair's Message

The results are in for the May survey. I received 67 responses, about half of them from the form at our web site. Thank you to all who responded. I thought I'd share with you some of the responses.

About two-thirds of you do not have problems receiving your newsletters. This is better than I expected, but much worse than it should be. I am hoping that the trouble that some people are having is due to late delivery. In the past couple of months, we have tightened the newsletter publication timeline and we hope we have been able to deliver your newsletter in time for you to plan for that month's dinner meeting. I should point out that we publish a small calendar of upcoming events on the back of the newsletter. Also, we post the newsletter at the beginning of the month on our web site www.scvacs.org/newsletter.

A little more than half of you are interested in receiving the newsletter by e-mail in addition to the mail version. The Executive Committee has discussed that option for some time now, and we will continue to work on it. There are several issues that need to be worked out. In the meantime, I would like to point out that you can register on the newsletter web page to get an e-mail notice when we update that web page with a new newsletter issue.

The next section asked what

factors influenced whether you attend a section dinner meeting. Not surprisingly, you overwhelmingly responded that the "program topic" was the most important factor. Next was "conflicting events" and "location," though "event time" was close behind. The "cost of dinner" was the least important, possibly because we have not raised the price of our dinner meeting for several years, despite rising costs. One other factor mentioned was convenience to transportation. I agree we must consider this. However, we have difficulty finding inexpensive restaurants with facilities for our speakers. If you ever need a ride from a bus or train station, let us know: we might be able to arrange for someone to pick you up.

Many respondents were interested in hearing about health and biotech issues at dinner meetings. Environmental issues, history of chemistry, industrial research, and science issues of local interest were also hot topics. Other topics mentioned were food and cooking chemistry, technology forecasting, brewing, combinatorial chemistry, chemoinformatics, chemical

ACS Women Chemist Committee

ACS Women Chemist Committee Summer Social to be held at California Academy of Sciences on August 26, 2000.

For information contact Bobbi Kahn at 510.231.1054 or bobbi.kahn@agna.zeneca.com.

education and teaching, gardening, science art and language, and global warming.

Many of the respondents wanted the meetings to be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, or Thursday. As for meeting locations, there were requests to move the meetings around more to include the South Bay. We will try to accommodate this request. Can anyone recommend a specific restaurant?

Three of the topical groups had more than 10 people who expressed interest: Biotech, Analytical, and Environmental. We will try to coordinate meetings with these and other people who are interested in these topics.

Many people had suggestions for program or initiative ideas. A couple of people requested career help and job networks. Others suggested more visibility, being more proactive and initiation of a dialog on sustainable chemistry. Other suggestions were more concrete: start a Younger Chemist Committee (we're doing this - check out upcoming newsletter issues for more information), add a calendar to the newsletter with volunteer opportunities, visits to local companies, and act as a distribution source for ACS materials. All of these are good suggestions; we will try to act on as many as possible.

Finally, the winners of the drawings for dinners are Ted Mill, Ralph Hoag, Michael Groziak, and Ronald Rinehart. Thank you all again for participating in this survey. This feedback is very helpful to improve our local section.

UCSC Extension

UCSC Extension, the largest provider of continuing education in Silicon Valley and the Central Coast, is proud to announce Two New Certificate Programs in Bioinformatics and Clinical Trials Design and Management for Career Development and Enhancement.

Bioinformatics (a sample of courses include)

- Introductory Molecular Biology
- Data Modeling, Analysis and Visualization in Bioinformatics
- Experimental Methods in Molecular Biology
- Bioinformatics Tools Databases and Methods
- Gene Expression and Pathways
- Advanced Sequence Analysis in Bioinformatics
- Protein Structure Analysis in Bioinformatics

Clinical Trials Design and Management (a sample of courses include)

- Medical/Clinical Terminology
- The Drug and Device Development Process
- Good Clinical Practices
- Clinical Trails Site Monitoring I
- The Science of Clinical Trails I
- Practical Clinical Statistics
- Case Report Forms Development
- Quality Systems Compliance
- Clinical Project Management
- Clinical Trails Site Monitoring II
- Devices: Regulatory Strategy and Marketing

For additional course offerings, course descriptions or to be added to our mailing list, visit our web site www.ucsc-extension.edu. Or call Tanya Doyle at (408) 566-4551.

Volunteers Needed

The Intel Carver Scholars Program is looking for 20 one-on-one science coaches for 4th to 12th grade minority students in the Silicon Valley, particularly in San Jose. The coaches will work with and encourage the students by e-mail, telephone and in person for the student to complete a science fair project for competition on Jan. 5, 2001 - the George Washington Carver Recognition Day and Science Fair in California. Contact Howard Peters as soon as possible (650) 324-1677 Ext. 20 or peters4pa@aol.com.

Learning Opportunities

San Jose State University Department of Chemical and Materials Engineering can enhance your professional development. The courses offered help one keep pace with our rapidly changing and increasingly demanding workplace. Class times are chosen to be compatible with typical work schedules.

You can learn new job skills, enhance existing competencies or explore a new career field. Find out about Fall 2000 courses at:

Intel International Science & Engineering Fair 2001

San Jose, California • May 6-12, 2001

Preliminary Call for Judges

In May 2001, over 1,200 students representing nearly 50 countries will be in San Jose to compete in the "Olympics of Science Fairs" – the Intel International Science & Engineering Fair (Intel ISEF). These high school students are the top winners of their affiliated regional or national science fairs, and represent the best of the best of science and engineering projects worldwide. The level of projects is unusually advanced for high school students, and typically, nearly 10% of student finalists in Intel ISEF have patents pending on their projects!

We need to locally recruit nearly 1,200 colleagues in 14 subject categories to help judge these outstanding projects. Judges must have either a Ph.D., M.D. or at least 6 years professional experience in the category they wish to judge. If you are qualified and interested to serve as a judge, please send your contact information to the address below. The dates you will be needed are both May 8 and 9, 2001. The application process will begin sometime during the Fall, and you will be notified of updates.

Send your contact information to: Roy K. Okuda, Ph.D., Judging Chair, Intel ISEF, Department of Chemistry, San Jose State University, San Jose, CA 95192-0101, Phone: 408-924-2525, e-mail: okuda@sjsu.edu

Additional information may be seen on the Intel ISEF 2001 web site: www.intelisef2001.org (see link for "judges")

Visit the Legislative Affairs Booth at the National Meeting

Please stop by booth 657 in the exhibit area to meet Office of Legislative and Government Affairs staff and learn about government relations programs and activities at the ACS National Meeting in Washington, DC, August 20-24. You will also be able to use the web-based Legislative Action Center to learn about pending legislation that affects chemists and chemical engineers and to write an electronic letter to your member of Congress.

CAS Covers Preprints on the Web

CAS is now abstracting and indexing preprints, a new class of research report distributed on the Web ahead of or in place of formal publication. CA and the associated CAS databases have begun to include records for preprints beginning with those posted in the year 2000. As they do for journals, CAS document analysts now summarize the content of preprints and provide detailed indexing to lead researchers to relevant studies. Several thousand preprints in the chemical, biological/medical, materials science and environmental sciences are expected to be added to CAS databases during 2000.

For more information about CAS products and services, visit the CAS Web site at www.cas.org.

SALUTES TO EXCELLENCE

Recognize Achievement in Chemistry in Your Community!

The Salutes to Excellence, a program of the ACS Office of Community Activities, offers your local section a chance to honor people, places, and products of chemistry that have made an impact in your area. This is YOUR program and it offers you a special way of saying "thank you" from ACS to local industries, colleges and universities, and individuals for contributing to the profession.

By bringing this program to your section, you have the opportunity to build awareness of the importance and relevance of chemistry in your community; engage every aspect of the chemical community – industry, academia, government; attract new members and new volunteers; provide media opportunity for ACS sponsors and honorees.

It's simple to participate:

- Choose a person, place, or product to honor. You may choose any achievement that you wish but the special focus through 2001 is Chemical Engineering. Contact the Office of Community Activities to share your plans. Plan your celebration that will include the presentation of a plaque furnished by ACS!
- Contact the Office of Community Activities now for more information. Call 1-800-227-5558 ext. 6078 or e-mail oca@acs.org.

Contact Congress Week

February 17-23, 2001

The Office of Legislative and Government Affairs will sponsor its annual "Contact Congress Week" in February 2001. OLGA encourages all local sections to invite a state or federal legislator to speak as part of the program at a local section meeting during the President's Day recess, February 17th to 23rd. Inviting a legislator to a meeting will provide an exceptional opportunity for your local section members to learn about the positions of your elected officials on research, science education, and environmental issues. It is also an important opportunity to educate legislators on the issues that face ACS members and to build relationships with those who represent you. No cost is associated with the presentation. The Office of Legislative and Government Affairs will assist you in selecting and contacting the proper legislator, drafting an invitation letter, and promoting the event. If you already have your February 2001 program planned we can work with you to find an alternative time. Please contact Ethan Castelo at (202) 452-8917 or e\_castelo@acs.org to involve your local section in the 2001 Contact Congress Week.

Other Events

Bay Area Mass Spectrometry Group (BAMS) will be holding its corporate night on September 19, 2000. Come learn all about the latest in mass spectrometry. See www.bams.org for further details. Sign up for our mailing list.

Want to Pursue a Master's Degree? Enhance Your Professional Development?

San Jose State University Chemistry Department welcomes working students into its Master's program and times its graduate courses to be in the late afternoon or evening. Take courses through Open University (show up in class the first day) or enroll as a student in the graduate program. Those with undergraduate degrees, or with some undergraduate training in chemistry or a related field may be eligible to take these courses (check with the instructor). For further information call the department office at 924-5000 or the instructor directly or visit our web site at: www.sjsu.edu/depts/chemistry/.

CHEMPLOYMENT ABSTRACTS AUGUST 2000

CHEMPLOYMENT ABSTRACTS 3327

Position Title: Research Associate, Synthetic Chemistry

Job Description: Perform synthesis, isolation & characterization of new chem entities such as metallotetrapyrins & various other porphyrins-like macrocyclic drug candidates for the detection & destruction of cancer, cardiovascular disease & other biomed applications as well as current lead candidates. Familiar with modern spectroscopic tech, purification (prep HPLC, SiO<sub>2</sub>, ion-exchange chromatog.)

QUALIFICATIONS DESIRED

Education: BA/BS and/or MS chem
Experience: 1-5 yrs ind exp in R&D, training in syn org chem - reactions & mechanisms. Exp in chem development a plus.

LOCATION, SALARY, MAIL ADDRESS

Location: Sunnyvale
Salary: Competitive salary & benefits

Application Instructions: Send resume to: Pharmacyclics
995 E. Arques Avenue
Sunnyvale, CA 94086
